

We just found out that our son has severe allergies & needs to have exposure to allergens avoided. So, we need to find a new home for our dogs.

Sasha is a 6-year-old lab mix. All of her shots & preventive medications are current. We adopted Sasha from a shelter when she was 4-months-old. She is spayed and house trained. She does well loose or crated when home alone. She's very affectionate, smart, and well behaved. She thinks she's a lap dog and gets along great with our son & other dog, Sammy.

We've been trying for several weeks to find a home for Sasha on our own to no avail. If we can't find a home by the end of October, we will have to surrender her to a shelter. We do NOT want to resort to that for fear that she won't get adopted (too many misconceptions of black dogs seem to prevail).
